BOOM NOW ON

Shall it be that crowe of insne, becollared men, who gathered last week in Chicago to do the bidding of the hero of bloodless San Juan, and place a Democratto secretary in charge of their National Committee, and coax some one of even semi-national reputation to agree to run second to this despoiler of every trust except the whiskey trust? Shall we trust that crowd of uncaged hyenas who will convene next week in St. Louis? Their chief occupation seems to be to dig in some grave-yard and cover the bones of some dead issue."

At the afternoon session, A. G. Wolfenbarger, of Lincoln, Nebraska, in his address, said he hoped the convention would adopt a platform broad enough, but not too broad.

Continuing, Mr. Wolfenburger said:

"I am not afraid of this convention being stampeded to or from any man. If it is right that this convention choose the grand old Indiana fighter (prolonged cheers) who was turned aside by the hero of San Juan Hill with a sneer, although no mark stood against him, well and good. If we do not choose to do that, we need not confine ourselves to military men. We have that masterful and matchless leader of America's lyoung manhood. Oliver W. Stewart." (Prolonged cheers, delegates standing and waving hats, hand-kerchiefs and hands.)

Mr. Wolfenbarger mentioned severat other party leaders, and some one shouled, "And Wolfenbarger, of Nebraska." There was another prolonged demonstration.

in part:
"That canker worm of the West,

that the greatest law-making assemblage

This committee reported that it had been utterly impossible for the two committees to agree on a single point, and that they were as far apart as when the conference began. It is practically certain that the miners in the employ of the furnace operators will suspend work on July 1st, as the old contract will have expired by that date.

Missouri Convention Controlled

JOPLIN, MO., June 29.—The Democratic State Convention to elect thirty-six delegates to the National Convention at St. Louis to-night selected he following delegates at large: United States Senator William J. Stone. Governor Alexander M. Dockery, Congressman Champ Clark and David A. DeArmond.

Thirty-two district delegates were also chosen. The convention was controlled by the so-called "machine" element; which is opposed to the faction supporting Joseph W. Folk, of St. Louis, for Governor. The convention endorsed Senator Francis M. Cockrell, for President, by adopting the following resolution: "Recognizing Senator Francis M. Cockrell as one of the ablest and most distinguished Americans and one who has the respect of the entire nation, we hereby instruct delegates to the National Convention to support him for President of the United tisates as long as his mane is before the convention and to use all honorable means to secure his nomination."

The delegates were instructed to vote as a unit on all questions in the National able means to secure his nomination."

The delegates were instructed to vote as a unit on all questions in the National Convention.

Chairman James A. Reed, in his speech, mentioned Parker, McClellan and Hearst. Parker's name brought forth some applause and more hisses, while the mention of McClellan and Hearst was followed by considerable cheering. The mention of Cockrell brought the convention to its feet and hats were waved for several minites.
